President's Report

On behalf of the Board of UTS Olympic I welcome the Directors, the players and the fans of Canberra Cosmos to Leichhardt Oval this evening. A special welcome is given to Paul Wade who is the captain of the Australian Socceroos.

His contest with UTS Olympic's Australian representative Milan Blagojevic promises to be a highlight of an entertaining game.

When the teams last met in Canberra UTS Olympic were fortunate to record a narrow 3-2 win. I am sure the match this evening will be a similarly close and exciting contest.

As 1996 approaches the Ericsson Cup season for 1995/1996 is over one third completed. I urge all our fans to continue the marvellous support shown throughout 1995 in 1996.

The early success of UTS Olympic in 1995 has rewarded the high degree of support shown and has come at a time when general public interest in soccer shows signs of increasing rapidly. It is only through this greater interest continuing that the success of both UTS Olympic and soccer generally can be guaranteed.

May I take this opportunity to remind our supporters that after our next match against Wollongong City in Wollongong on Friday January 5 the season has a three week break with Olympic resuming its season's programme against South Melbourne on Sunday February 4, 1995 at South Melbourne's new stadium.

However, you will have an opportunity to see UTS Olympic play in the knockout Johnnie Walker Cup during this period with UTS Olympic playing at Leichhardt Oval on Sunday 14 January, 1996 against Wollongong City. The draw for the whole competition is printed in this programme — see page 34.

Our next home game will be against West Adelaide on Sunday 25 February, 1996. During this break some of our players will be undertaking national representative duties for both the Olyroos and the Socceroos and we wish them all well.

Happy New Year to all and good luck to both teams tonight.

— JIM KELAIDITIS

Coach's Report

This report was written before our away game against Melbourne Knights due to printing deadlines at Christmas time. Our two home games against Brisbane and Newcastle were both very important games for us as we were desperate for success.

Fortunately, we were able to gain maximum points from these games. We have five very important games before the January break away to Melbourne Knights, Adelaide City and Wollongong with home games against Morwell and Canberra. So many things could change in the next month depending on the results we gain in these games.

Against Brisbane we had a very tight game with very few chances for either side. However, our players gradually got on top and gained their reward when Kris Trajanovski scored a late penalty for us. Against Newcastle we played some good open soccer and managed to get amongst the goals again.

We were given a start after an own goal, then Walter Ardone scored after a good build up. Walter again played a good ball for Kris Trajanovski to volley home our third goal. Then Normie Tome scored a very good individual goal to give us a 4-0 win. That goal was our 24th in twelve games. Last year we scored a total of 24 in a 24 game season so we are on the improve.

Steve Darby and I concentrate a lot of our work on shooting and creating scoring opportunities and it is pleasing to see we have had nine different players score our goals this season.

On the injury front George Sorras has had a knee operation and will be missing until February, but knowing George he will be working hard to be back playing as soon as possible. Derek Poimer is progressing well, but we have no definite time as to when he will return playing. Elias Augerinos will be having a cartilage operation and should be back in February.

As this is the last report before Christmas, I would like to thank all our supporters for the support they have given us so far this season and wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and safe New Year on behalf of the players and the coaching staff.

Nick has quickly established himself as an aggressive and tenacious defender for UTS Olympic. He played with great flair against Newcastle on 10 December and was able to celebrate his birthday the next day feeling well satisfied with his contribution to the team's 4-0 victory.

Nick who is proud to be the oldest outfield player in the team came to UTS Olympic after playing with Brisbane Lions, Newcastle and Marconi. He used to be forward, but has been in a defensive position for the last 5-6 years. His ambition is to play in a premierships side and is genuinely excited about UTS Olympic's prospects this year after such a good start to the season.

The cheer Nick received when he was substituted late in the game against Newcastle clearly indicated that he is one of the crowd's favourite players who contributes much to team spirit. Let's hope that Nick can realise his ambition to capture a premiership by continuing to defend bravely for UTS Olympic.

"Straight Shooting"

With ANDY PASCHALIDIS (Alias Uncle Stavros)

1995 has been a year of highlights both here and abroad, but for me one of the greatest moments came just two weeks ago.

No it wasn't Damien Mori's breathtaking goal against Sydney United or Paul Wade's hat-trick against Newcastle, but a simple lunch with two of Australia's most decorated players.

Humility and politeness have always been traits I respect in footballers. Frank Farina and David Mitchell have both qualities in abundant supply.

This year I made the move from SBS to Galaxy — one made with a tinge of sadness, but a decision I had to make. I must have commented about 90 games from all sorts of places like Spain, Italy, Greece, Germany and remote areas like Lithuania, Georgia and the Ukraine.

But my highlight was not the Milan derby from the San Siro or any of the 30 European qualifiers we broadcast, but a 15 minute studio interview with Mitchell and Farina followed by a great lunch.

Did you know that "Mitch" has played for Eintracht Frankfurt, Glasgow Rangers, Feyenoord, Chelsea, Millwall, Swindon, Selangor as well as stints in Turkey and of course Australia???

Farina is back home with the Brisbane Strikers after spells with Strasbourg, Lille, Bari and Club Brugge. In fact, he might have joined Juventus in 1984, but the coach at the time, Giovanni Trapattoni, thought he was too old!! Farina was only 19.

"In hindsight I was glad to stay on in Australia for a few more years and go overseas with some experience under my belt," Farina said.

"I think too many of our younger players are going over too early. They just don't realise how tough it is."

Farina should know. After winning the National League championship with Marconi he signed with Club Brugge in Belgium. He spent three fruitful years there winning the top-scorer award as well as the Championship and the Cup.

Then came a big move to Serie A with Bari.

"It was an offer too good to refuse," Farina added: "I'd gone as far as I could in Belgium and I thought it would work out going to Bari because they had also signed David Platt and a Brazilian striker."

"But the Brazilian broke his leg and I was left to play up front. The Italian style didn't suit me. I like to breakthrough and not have my back to the opposition."

"It's very tough defensively, but unfortunately it didn't work out."

Mitchell has played at many grounds including Wembley, Hampden Park, the San Siro and more recently his home ground at Selangor which can accommodate 80,000 and did so for the final of the Malaysian Cup.

"I'll never forget scoring the winning goal in sudden-death extra time," Mitchell said: "I'll spend another season in Asia and come back home for one final fling."

Hopefully by then guys like Graham Arnold and Eddie Krncevic will also be back. We all want to put something back in the game here."

It felt like yesterday when I first saw Mitch play. That was at the World Youth Championships in 1981. That team had some famous names like Patikas, Raskopoulos, Crino, Koussas, Lee, Wheatley, Blair and the list goes on.

I'll never forget the day Farina scored a dramatic equaliser for Australia in the first game of the 1983 World Youth Championships in Mexico against the host nation. I was working at Australian and British Soccer Weekly at the time and little did I know I would start commentating at SBS just a year later.

The years have moved along so quickly, especially 1995. It's been a good year for UTS Olympic and good luck to all those people involved with the club.

You know soccer is THE greatest game. I've always wondered what might have happened if my father didn't allow me to join the Hurlstone Park Soccer Club way back in 1971. You see training and Greek school fell on the same day.

My father left the decision to me and I didn't hesitate to opt for soccer training instead of Greek school. Who knows maybe I might not be a soccer commentator if I didn't make that decision???

When my four-year-old son Christopher is confronted by a similar choice I'll also let him decide. You know the way he kicks a soccer ball around I think we should pencil in the name CHRISTOPHER PASCHALIDIS in the UTS Olympic programme in the year 2010!!!

Anyway, all the very best for 1996 to all of you, particularly our visitors from Canberra.

With the Johnnie Walker Cup being held through January 1996 (see draw in programme p. 34), memories return of Cup games from previous seasons. In the case of Olympic, 1993 and 1985 stand out as seasons in which we were triumphant. The latter success was achieved during a season of great highs and lows.

Season 1985 started with a great deal of optimism for Olympic who had won the Northern division the previous season although then losing both legs of the Championship final to South Melbourne, 1-2 on each occasion. (In 1984, 1985, 1986 the competition was divided into two division, Northern and Southern, with the respective winners playing off for the championship.)

After some early good form in the Olympic Airways Soccer League as it was then called, Sydney Olympic also made it ways through the Cup rounds beating Newcastle 2-0 in the semi-final. Both goals came from penalties. The final was set down for Anzac Day, but was postponed until May 1 due to wet weather. Once again the weather intervened and the final was postponed until August.

These postponements came at opportune time for Olympic who were experiencing a bad run of injuries. Terry Patalis, Nick Theodorakopoulos, Arthur Svinos, Alex Lambropoulos, and Peter Katholos were all sidelined, Kat requiring surgery on his right knee. The team also went through a slump in form, losing four in a row including a 0-5 loss to Sydney Croatia engineered by Jim Patikas and Graham Arnold.

Due to injuries and poor form, Olympic began searching for an overseas player to add some zest to the team. Overseas guest were very popular during this era and already in 1985 Ossie Ardiles had played for St George, and Kevin Keegan for Blacktown. Olympic imported Scottish international Davie Provan from Celtic, and his five-game stint proved very successful, netting an equal number of goals.

The lowest point of the season came on July 7, in a return match against Sydney City at Pratten Park. The teams were fierce rivals and their first round game had been torrid. This time tempers boiled over, and after repeated clashes, a send off sparked a pitch invasion which led to the game being abandoned, providing the lowest point the club's history.

Fortunately the spirit of the club was strong enough to regroup and set about restoring pride and dignity, which was finally rewarded on August 11 when Olympic played Preston in the Cup Final.

Preparation for the game was disrupted by national duties with both Marshall Soper and Graham Jennings appearing for the Socceroos against Red Star Belgrade, along with Preston's Robbie Dunn. Playing in Adelaide on Friday night the trio backed up for the final Sunday.

Olympic had won the Cup in 1983, but bombed out in 1984 losing all three qualifiers, and were keen to re-establish themselves. Chris Kalantzis was absent with the national Youth team and defender Any Stankovic was ineligible having played for Newcastle in earlier rounds. Preston were just as keen for victory, striving to become the first Victorian team to win the Cup.

It seemed as though Preston's wish may have come true when Socceroo Gary Cole scored an early goal and they defended this lead deep in to the second half. Then the game turned on a series of incidents; Gary Meier saved a certain goal, Olympic missed one, and Preston captain and defender Ian Jobson left the field temporarily with cramp.

Peter Raskopoulos seized the opportunity to drive Olympic on and with 12 minutes to go Katholos cannoned a shot into the Preston defence and Soper was on hand to convert the rebound 1-1! Two minutes later, Rasko put the issue beyond doubt blasting a 30 metre drive through young Preston goalie, Phil Trainedes 2-1! Victory!

For coach Manfred Schaefer, president Jim Petinellis, secretary Tom Doumanis and all associated it was a great vindication after the dark days of July. For Katholos, Soper, Meier, Martyn Rogers and Graham Jennings it was a second victory in three years. And for the faithful it was a great day to shout "O-lym-pic! O-lym-pic!" January 27, 1996 could be another such day.

TACKLING — FAIR & FOUL

This article by Ken Ridden, UK Director of Referees Coaching first appeared in "The London Referee" and was reprinted in the April 1995 issue of "Referee Australia".

The British style of hard, fair, competitive, tackling is something expected and enjoyed in our matches.

It was with some concern that we read of statements made by some leading international figures, prior to the World Cup final games, that any tackles (or, worse still, any attempted tackles) made from behind an opponent, would in future result in not only a direct free-kick, but a dismissal from the field.

Visions of red cards for previously accepted fair tackles caused consternation in many National Associations. Fortunately, the early statements had been either rash or exaggerated and the mandatory instructions given to referees (and announced to team managers before a ball had been kicked) proved to be less draconian and were acknowledged by most in football to be, indeed, constructive and welcome.

Violent unfair tackles from behind (or, indeed from any direction) have prematurely ended the careers of a number of top players and those savage tackles aimed at the achilles region, with little or no real attempt to play the ball, do require the ultimate immediate sanction of the red card. Fair play must continue to be encouraged and foul, violent play which can easily shatter the life of a paid player must be eradicated. The strong action urged (no, required) by FIFA is welcomed for the protection and welfare of players under the threat of unfair violent tackles and serves to be a firm and effective deterrent to this type of excessive foul play.

Early season signs, however, are that a few players have still put at risk the safety of opponents by challenging in a violent unfair manner and red cards have been produced. The sooner individuals acknowledge the dangerous nature of these fouls, the sooner the red card can be relegated to in-pocket status and remain there, as planned, merely as a strong deterrent to those thinking about such transgressions.

But, back to fair competitive tackles and the sliding tackle in particular. Here, there is less difficulty, provided players slide in with one or both legs and make direct contact with the ball.

To help in adjudicating on sliding tackles made from the side of an opponent, the new mandatory instructions given to referees by FIFA state that if a player making a tackle trips and opponent, instead of first making contact with the ball, the referee must award a direct free-kick (for intentional tripping) and caution the tackler (yellow card) for ungentlemanly conduct. (It must also be remembered that, even though a player plays the ball first, the referee can rule that the tackle is dangerous and act accordingly.)

The mandatory caution may appear harsh, but FIFA's view is that the tackler knows the risk involved (ball or man) and if he makes direct contact with the man this is clearly unfair, against the spirit of the game and concept of fair play and therefore must be punished appropriately.

The new instructions have caused some defenders to re-think their tackling strategy, but again, the early season signs are that the game has benefited from players being better protected and able to display their skills in both dribbling and being able to dwell constructively on the ball. Also, of course, we still have our hard, fair, competitive tackles as part of the game.

For Canberra's John Koch tonight's game is a chance to apply what he learns at training, for although John plays for Canberra he still lives in Sydney and in order to keep fit he trains with UTS Olympic! From 1988-90, John played 32 games for Olympic scoring 2 goals. This photo is from 1989, courtesy of Soccer Australia.
